

FOLK FARMER

Presenting
the new Single
The Horses
of the Gods

FOLK FARMER is the personal project of Jorge García where “old time” sounds from Appalachia meet with influences from Irish and Nord Spanish Traditional Music.

The sound of FOLK FARMER is led by strings, J. García plays 5 String Banjo, Irish Bouzouki, Acoustic Guitar and Asturian Bagpipes, to which is added the sound of guest musicians, Fiddle, Accordion, Hurdy-gurdy.

FOLK FARMER is a farmer of songs, of strange stories that grow in his garden, among crows and owls, in a shed full of rusty tools.

The Horses of the Gods is the first single from an album to be released in spring 2022.

BIO

Jorge García is a musician born in Buenos Aires who has lived for the last 30 years between England, Germany and Spain, which has deeply influenced the sound and lyrics of his songs.

Besides music he is a painter having exhibited his work at Apart Gallery in London, Galerie Ralph Schriever in Cologne and Bianca María Rizzi in Milan signing his work as Mario García Sasia

He studied film in London, directing the short films Cristal Fish and Seduction of the Drawned's Blue Death, as well as the video clips for Pablo Krantz's songs Les Chansons d'amour ont ruiné ma vie and La seule institution que je respecte.

He also directed the video for FOLK FARMER's song The Horses of the Gods.

Lyrics
The Horses of the Gods

There was something
Like a demon
Somewhere there
Telling things
He hides some times for days
But I know
He is there
Waiting the moment when I'm weak

Like a Monk
I keep silent
He is my enemy
That I know
I am not a virtuous man
But I'm not really bad
You know
Things happen after things
And the left overs is what you are
A point where the lines of time
Converge by chance

Keep your smile
You still got time
This is a war
And it's not over
It's worth to try and go living
This is a place I won't abandon
In the deepest darkness of the night
I light my torch over
And see the horses of the gods
Going through a black sky

And cry in the night
Like all the nights
